The Truth in a Nut Shell.

There are many people who imagine they are sick and others who really are sick but do not know the cause of their sickness. The former class patronize all kinds of fakirs and swallow every kind of a nostrum in the hope that relief will come to them for the imaginable sickness. The latter class, as a rule, patronize so-called specialists whom they never see except in imagination by means of a steryotyped letter usually prepared by an office girl. If you only imagine or really are sick consult Dr. B. M. Jackson who makes regular visits to Oregon every four weeks. Dr. Jackson spent 21 years in the different schools of Europe and America in order to perfect himself for the practice of his profession. Dr. Jackson is spoken of very highly and is appreciated by those he has and is treating. Consultation and examination is always free and strictly confidential. Dr. Jackson's next visit to is beaten into a pulp and thrown into Oregon will be Tuesday, June 16, at the water. The stream assumes a Hotel Woodland.

Do Your CHILDREN QUESTIONS?

Of course they do. It is their way of learning and it is your duty to answer. You may need a dictionary to aid you. It won't answer every question, but there are thousands to which it will give you true, clear and definite answers, not about words only, but about things, the sun, machinery, men, places, stories and the like. Then. too, the children can find their own answers. Some of our greatest men have ascribed their power to study of the dictionary.

Of course you want the best dictionary. The most critical prefer the New and Enlarged Edition of about it write us. G. & C. MERRIAM CO. Why Ice In Slippery.

At a recent meeting of the Philosophical society at Cambridge, England, S. Skinner contributed a paper on the slipperiness of ice. This has been attributed to the presence of a layer of lubricating water under the body pressing on the ice. The water is produced by the lowering of the freezing point where the pressure is experienced. On this view the object glides on a liquid layer, and consequently viscous friction in water takes the place of the rubbing friction between the solids. Joly has shown by calculation that the weight of a man concentrated on the blade of a skate is sufficient to lower the freezing point very considerably, and Reynolds, arguing from the difficulty of slipping on very cold ice, comes to the same conclusion. In the present paper it is pointed out that sliding on a liquid layer is a condition under which cavitation will occur in the liquid, and that this will aid the slipping.-Nature.

Romembered the Biddenden Maids. The quaint annual ceremony, century old, in honor of the "Biddenden maids," took place recently in that quiet Kentish village, which for once was crowded with visitors on foot, on bicycles, and in motor cars. The "maids" were born together in the year 1100, and were joined together at the hips and at the shoulders. Thus they lived for 34 years and then died together. They were noted for their charity, and by their will they left a piece of land, which has since increased beyond its original value of 40 guineas a year, to provide on a certain day bread and cheese for the poor and cakes for strangers who come to the parish. The other day a huge crowd of strangers gathered to see 200 loaves and 200 pounds of cheese handed by the church wardens from a window in the old work house, and struggled or bargained afterward for the cakes stamped with a picture of the "maids." -London Chronicle.

Rivalry in Prayer.

The small boy lifted up his voice and wept.

"I've prayed and prayed and prayed to have it stop snowing," he wailed, "and it keeps on snowing just as hard as if I hadn't said a thing."

So Inconsiderate.

A young woman who wore at a concert a hat which was both high and wide was requested to remove it. She do-so, but with poor grace, and the old lady behind her who had proffered the request could not avoid hearing her vexed comment to her companion. But being blessed with a sense of humor, the old lady smiled in spite of herself. "I think she was very inconsiderate," said the young woman, emphatically. "Of course you feel obliged to do it when any one asks, but I should think she would have realized that if I held the hat in my lap on top of my coat the flowers would come right up into my eyes and prevent me from really seeing anything on the platform. But that's just like people, isn't it?"-Youth's Companion.

Easily Amused,

A traveler writes: "I have often been struck by the ease with which people in southern Europe are amused. In Rome at the feast of the 'Divine Amore' 5,000 people go out on the Campagna to a spot where once stood a temple to Venus and hold a picnic, while 50,000 go out and line the Applan way to see them return. In Madrid this peculiarity is even more marked. On the Puerta del Sol about a thousand people stand around and do nothing outdoors, while crowds of people sit indoors or lean from balconies to watch them do it. And in Seville the idle rich sit in clubs and cafes on the Sierpes to watch the lower classes walk by, while the lower classes walk by to watch the idle rich sitting in the clubs and cafes on the Slerpes."-Detroit Free Press.

Botany in the "Desert."

The Carnegie institution has located its "Desert Botanical Laboratory" on the shoulder of a mountain two miles west of Tucson, Ariz. The Tucson chamber of commerce has given the site, and will install a water-supply and an electric plant for the laboratory. The object of the undertaking is to study the plants characteristic of arid regions. The mountain on which the laboratory is to stand and the adjoining mesas possess a splendid representation of these forms of vegetation. Proposed sites in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Chihuahua and Sonora were examined before the location was finally chosen .-

Longevity in Europe.

Of European nations, the Norwegian and Swedish are the longest lived, the Spaniards the shortest, According to a foreign statistical return recently issued, the average duration of life is as follows: Sweden and Norway, 50 years; Britain, 45 years and 3 months; Belgian, 44 years and 4 months; France, 43 years and 6 months; Austria, 39 years and 8 months; Prussia and Italy, 39 years; Batavia, 36 years, and Spain,

Ruined by Seals.

The fisheries of northern Norway have come to a standstill, owing to a tremendous influx of seals along the coast and in the fjords. The seals, which come from the White sea, have been fought without avail. The large fishing population has petitioned the government for help to exterminate the plague, which is partly eating and partly hunting all fish away.—Fishing Gazette.

Close Figuring.

"Doctor," said the shrewd-looking man, "how many feet of gas does it take to kill a man?

"That's rather a queer question," said the doctor. "Why do you wish to know?" "One of the guests of my hotel used enough of it to kill himself, and I want to send in a proper bill to his executors."-Philadelphia Press.

Disgrace to the Ark.

England is a good 15 years behind America in respect to typography and typefounding. This is even more true -a great deal more true-of the continent of Europe, which, indeed, doesn't contain a good jobbing office or a single solitary newspaper whose outfit of type wouldn't be a disgrace ST. JOSEPH to the ark .- Printers' Ink.
